THIRD QUARTER CRIME STATISTICS

Calls for Service by Month
Comparison of 2020 to 2000-2019

The steady decline due to pandemic-related closures in the retail area appears to have ended. Calls for service are back to normal and case reports are just below normal.

Unless there is a big change in mandated closures, holiday season activity in the retail area is likely to be very similar to previous years, driving these numbers into normal ranges.
